Write a message to Kristie L. Norwood with your reflections on how she discovered that the power of observation enhanced her child-centered curriculum approach in “Igniting a Passion for Learning through Uncovering Children’s Interest.”

Consider including your thoughts about the following:

- What influenced Kristie to change her view of education from direct instruction to following children’s interests?
- What role did studying observations and documentation with colleagues play in Kristie’s work to follow the children’s lead?
- How did Kristie’s work with the children on the castle project meet learning outcomes for the children?
