Name	Date
Instructor	Class time
Chapter 6: Putting A	-cademic Learning in Its Place
Beginning Reflections
Read each of the writing prompts below. ideas.	Use the space provided to record your thoughts and sitting on your grandma's lap reading and over again. Perhaps you were performable to make mud. Or maybe you were perhaps the insects you studied in your yard	ries of excitement about learning. Maybe you were ing along with her as she read your favorite book over retending to be a scientist and mixing dirt and water pretending to be a biologist and were fascinated by d. Maybe you were feeling proud because you could v cake. Record those memories here:

2.	Now think back about your formal school experiences. What did school offer you that strengthened your identity as an eager learner? What experiences undermined your eagerness to learn?
3.	How can these early learning experiences influence your work with children?

Chapter 6: Beginning Reflections, page 2

Name_____