Chapter 6: Putting Academic Learning in Its Place

Share Your Reflections with Evelyn

Write a message to Evelyn Lieberman with your reflections on how she learned to negotiate the curriculum to respect the children's themes as well as help them learn the academic content that would benefit them in school in "From Scribbles to Name Writing."

Consider including your thoughts about the following:

- What examples did you read of Evelyn's excitement about being a teacher-researcher?
- What specific steps did she take to learn more about the children's understandings of literacy and writing?
- How did she negotiate the curriculum to extend the children's thinking and understandings about early literacy?
- How did Evelyn involve and inform the children's families in her work?
