

KEY IDEAS ABOUT THIS APPROACH TO SCIENCE LEARNING

- Building understanding of important science concepts is an appropriate goal for young children.
- Children naturally form ideas about the world based on their life experiences.
- In inquiry-based science it is important for teachers to provide new experiences that can lead children to more sophisticated theories.