Trauma-Responsive Strategies for Early Childhood
 #546636 $29.95
 (E-book #546643 $29.95)

New! Build a safe, inclusive, supportive environment for all children

Trauma-Responsive Strategies for Early Childhood works from a relationship-based framework and offers a blueprint for creating schools and classrooms that can transform young children's views of themselves and the world around them. Focusing on cognitive, language, physical, and social-emotional domains, Katie Statman-Weil uses vignettes to illustrate how trauma can be expressed in the classroom and what teachers can do about it—because all children deserve safe and supportive early learning settings. Age focus: 0–8. Softbound, 176 pgs.

#545202 $36.95
(E-book #545219 $36.95)

New! 260+ play-based activities to meet literacy standards

The original edition of More Than Letters showed teachers how to intentionally help children develop literacy skills through hands-on, play-based activities. The Standards Edition builds on the original with new chapters that specifically focus on developing the skills needed to decode literature and informational text. Expanded chapters include activities that target specific concepts included in national literacy standards. Over 100 photographs included to illustrate activities in action. Age focus: 3–6. Softbound, 368 pgs.

New! Inspire young children to try something new

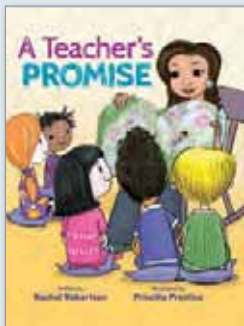

One of the best ways to nurture happiness in young children is to prepare them for adversity they will encounter in life. Tommy is good at almost everything. He's awesome at riding his bike without training wheels, teaching his dog new tricks, and spelling seven-letter words like "kumquat." But when it comes to trying new things, he would rather not. With encouragement from his grandfather, Tommy learns that some things take practice and that it's important to stick with it through challenges.. Age focus: 3–8. Hardcover, 32 pgs. Full Color.

From the authors of the award-winning book StoryMaking

New! Cultivate the maker mind-set in the youngest learners

Engage young children in maker-centered learning, design and introduce makerspaces, and learn how to select/use open-ended tools and materials. Field tested in real classrooms, home settings, libraries, and museums, the authors have practical suggestions, student samples, implementers' suggestions, photographs, anchor charts, and many other forms of documentation. Full-color demonstrative photos give readers additional visual guidance. Age focus: 3–8. Softbound, 276 pgs. Full Color.

Makerspaces
#547138 $34.95
(E-book #547145 $34.95)

The maker movement approach to literacy

StoryMaking combines storytelling, the maker movement, the importance of play, and Reggio-inspired theory. It's the practice of communicating through language, gesture, and images over visual, audible, and physical systems to move children forward in their literacy learning. This book shares the processes, first steps, materials, practical suggestions, student samples, documentation forms, and over 100 full-color photos so teachers can implement their own version of StoryMaking in their classrooms. Age focus: 3–5. Softbound, 176 pgs. Full color.

New! Children need guidance, not discipline

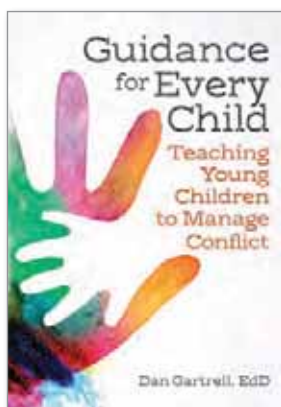

Dan Gartrell, "The Guidance Guy," explores secure relationships as the foundation for guidance and how to build them with children, families, and colleagues. He gives examples of how children's mistaken behavior (not misbehavior) can play out in the classroom and provides strategies on how early childhood professionals can help others to gain the emotional health they need to be socially responsive, and then support the social skills they need to build relationships and solve problems cooperatively. Age focus: 2–8. Softbound, 128 pgs.

A Guidance Guide for Early Childhood Leaders
#546889 $27.95
(E-book #546896 $27.95)

Dan Gartrell's guidance toolkit

Tying together the theory and developmentally appropriate strategies of child guidance and behavior, this book provides you with best practices for teaching children healthy social-emotional behavior and conflict management. Through current brain research, real-life stories, and a plethora of key concepts and discussion questions, learn about tools and strategies to help even the most at-risk children thrive, and reduce the expulsion rate in early childhood. Age focus: 2–8. Softbound, 192 pgs.

Guidance for Every Child
#545370 $29.95
(E-book #545387 $29.95)

New! Create an inclusive environment for all children

This easy-to-use guide shows how early childhood professionals can create a positive and inclusive environment where children of all cultures can thrive. The newest addition in the Redleaf Press Quick Guide series includes elements of the National Association for the Education of Young Children's (NAEYC) developmentally appropriate practice and ethical standards, early childhood progress indicators, and principles of Integrated Multicultural Universal Design in Education. Guides for reflection, practical suggestions, and a checklist to evaluate how diversity rich your environment is. Age focus: 0–8. Softbound, 80 pgs.

Make meaningful connections between STEM and the power of stories

When children build with blocks, they are both literally and figuratively constructing their knowledge of the world. When we see children's construction play through the lens of architecture, we are able to support and extend children's learning on all four STEM subjects. More than 20 projects involve traditional classroom materials, natural materials, found objects, cardboard, and authentic woodworking materials. Age focus: 3–6. Softbound, 144 pgs. Full color.

New! Proactive antibias and play-based practice

The YWCA Minneapolis Early Childhood Education's anti-bias, play-based curriculum is a framework that can be used independently or within another curriculum. It uses an anti-bias lens that focuses and builds children's awareness from self to friend to neighborhood and community. A program with an esteemed reputation for high-quality early childhood education, the YWCA Minneapolis developed this time-tested framework that uses racial equity work, racial and ethnic backgrounds, abilities, gender equity, and inclusion at the roots of its practice. This tool can be used with any assessment and includes a glossary and index. Age focus: 3–5. Softbound, 160 pgs.

Higher-order thinking (HOT) is required to replace stereotyping with empathy, conspiracy theories with reason, sophisticated lies with truths, and wishful thinking with science

Higher-order thinking means thinking critically and creatively. These skills are vital for 21st-century children to be successful and build an equitable society free of biases and stereotyping. This book shows how educators can readily incorporate strategies that develop students' higher-order thinking skills into nearly every lesson and activity everyday, as well as informally throughout each day. Age Focus: 4–8. Softbound, 200 pages.

"In clear prose, Dr. Saifer addresses the processes by which children learn the critical, but often ignored, skills of higher-order thinking. He provides many examples of good practice, illuminating classrooms of diverse ages, cultures and teaching approaches. This inspiring book will take its proud place on the shelf with other well-thumbed resources."

Essential advice on how to balance brain stimulation

Both overstimulation and understimulation create stress in young developing brains. These laminated, ring bound, 4" x 3" cards are designed to give early childhood education professionals simple brain development insights and ideas that assist in keeping the brains of young children balanced. Suggested activities and interactions for a wide variety of situations throughout the day provide easy ways for caregivers to avoid either over- or understimulation of young children. Stressed brains are not ready to learn, but creating balance leads to healthier brains and bodies and children that feel happier, calmer, and ready to thrive.

Navigate the 7 Cs of social competency

Young children are not born with social skills. Adults sometimes assume that when children reach a certain age, they will automatically become socially competent and be able to effectively employ all seven social competency skills: communication, community building, coping, confidence, conflict resolution, control, curiosity. However, these skills need to be taught and honed. This book examines the role of the adult in designing the environment and using intentional strategies to maximize a child's success. ### Strategies for teaching boys in early childhood

Oh Boy! suggests that many of the struggles young boys have in our early childhood programs and schools are not simply a result of bad behavior. Rather, boys struggle because of a much more fundamental problem: a mismatch between how most young boys develop, grow, and learn, and the kinds of expectations, outcomes, activities, and discipline approaches used in programs during the early years.

Child initiated play in action

Children are most engaged – and therefore learn best – when they are following their own interests. Anna Ephgrave shows how her acclaimed “planning in the moment” approach can be used with two and three-year olds with dramatic results for both children and staff. It reveals the impact that free-flowing, child-initiated play has on very young children’s wellbeing, making them feel safe and secure and consequently helping them to be fully engaged in their learning.

An accessible way to understand early learning theories

Go beyond reading about early learning theories and see what they look like in action in modern programs and teacher practices. With classroom vignettes and colorful photographs, this book makes the works of Jean Piaget, Erik Erikson, Lev Vygotsky, Abraham Maslow, John Dewey, Howard Gardner, and Louise Derman-Sparks visible, accessible, and easier to understand. Each theory is defined—through stories and photos—in relation to cognitive, social-emotional, and physical developmental domains. Use this book to build a true comprehension of the foundations of early learning theories. Age focus: 2–5. Softbound, 240 pgs.

Movement is not misbehavior

Rae Pica advocates for active learning, not only because it's developmentally appropriate but because doing so promotes a calmer, friendlier, and less challenging learning environment. Rae offers some of her own past missteps in hopes that readers will be able to learn from her mistakes, along with 200 ready-to-use movement activities that can be easily implemented into the day. Age focus: 3–8. Softbound, 152 pgs.

New! Children need guidance, not discipline

Dan Gartrell, "The Guidance Guy," explores secure relationships as the foundation for guidance and how to build them with children, families, and colleagues. He gives examples of how children's mistaken behavior (not misbehavior) can play out in the classroom and provides strategies on how early childhood professionals can help others to gain the emotional health they need to be socially responsive, and then support the social skills they need to build relationships and solve problems cooperatively. Age focus: 2–8. Softbound, 128 pgs.

Set a rich foundation for infants and toddlers

STEAM's goal is to support the native creativity and innovation that all young children possess. Infants and toddlers have a naturally curious mindset. Yet there is little literature for educators about how to use STEAM concepts in their practice with infants and toddlers. This book uses illustrated vignettes to narrate stories of infant and toddler STEAM concept explorations and bring out new possibilities for caregivers to uncover within their own environments. Age focus: 0–3. Softbound, 184 pgs. Full color.

New! Inspire young children to try something new

One of the best ways to nurture happiness in young children is to prepare them for adversity they will encounter in life. Tommy is good at almost everything. He's awesome at riding his bike without training wheels, teaching his dog new tricks, and spelling seven-letter words like "kumquat." But when it comes to trying new things, he would rather not. With encouragement from his grandfather, Tommy learns that some things take practice and that it's important to stick with it through challenges.. Age focus: 3–8. Hardcover, 32 pgs. Full Color.

When You Just Have to Roar!

#543628 $15.95

(E-book #543635 $15.95)

Learning About Me & You Series
#983802 $61.12

New! A book about body safety

Through simple language and colorful illustrations, this straightforward, gentle book guides young children to understand that their private parts belong to them alone. The overriding message is that if someone touches your private parts, tell your mom, your dad, your teacher, or another safe adult. This book is an essential abuse-prevention resource to help children feel, be, and stay safe. Bilingual English/Spanish. Age Focus: 3-8. Hardcover, 40 pgs.

My Body Belongs to Me / Mi cuerpo me pertenece

A New! 260+ play-based activities to meet literacy standards

The original edition of More Than Letters showed teachers how to intentionally help children develop literacy skills through hands-on, play-based activities. The Standards Edition builds on the original with new chapters that specifically focus on developing the skills needed to decode literature and informational text. Expanded chapters include activities that target specific concepts included in national literacy standards. Age focus: 3–6. Softbound, 368 pgs.

B Story-retelling strategies that work across the curriculum

Improve young children's language, social-emotional, and number sense development with effective, developmentally appropriate teaching strategies in story retelling. This book demystifies the story-retelling experience for teachers of young children by identifying effective, intentional teaching and learning practices. Age focus: 2–5. Softbound, 232 pgs.

C The maker movement approach to literacy

StoryMaking combines storytelling, the maker movement, the importance of play, and Reggio-inspired theory. It's the practice of communicating through language, gesture, and images over visual, audible, and physical systems to move children forward in their literacy learning. This book shares the processes, first steps, materials, practical suggestions, student samples, documentation forms, and over 100 full-color photos. Age focus: 3–5. Softbound, 176 pgs. Full color.

D Confidently explore open-ended art

Authors Dr. Tracy Galuski and Dr. Mary Ellen Bardsley present the challenges teachers encounter when bridging the gap between best practices and classroom expectations related to art process and product. The book contains a plethora of solutions grounded in research and shown through practical examples, as well as full-color pictures and photos of open-ended art. Age focus: 0–8. Softbound, 168 pgs. Full color.

E 145 process-oriented art activities

This book covers a wide range of media—including painting, crayons, collage, sculpture, chalk, and printing. All activities are adaptable for children from ages two to eight and are easy to prepare and set-up. These hands-on projects have been classroom tested to ensure they keep learning fun and engaging. Age focus: 2–8. Softbound, 112 pgs.

F Reggio-inspired inquiry-based studio practices

Includes art exploration for teachers to use prior to implementing the practice with children, suggestions on documentation, and inspiring photographs and ideas to show how you can use inquiry-based practices. Discover how to create space, time, and intentional processes for learning and how to use art for asking questions, exploring hypotheses, and examining experiences from unfamiliar perspectives. Age focus: 3–6. Softbound, 248 pgs. Full color.

New! Tom Copeland's record-keeping training video

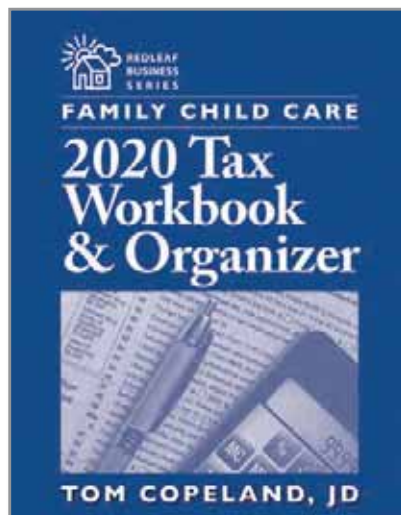

Most family child care providers would rather care for children than spend time keeping records. But, taking care of the children is only half of the job. The other half is taking care of business, and record-keeping is an important part of running a business. This video can help family child care providers understand proper record-keeping strategies, pay lower taxes, and save money. DVD, three 1-hour sessions. Closed Caption.

FAMILY CHILD CARE

New! Save time and money when filing your own taxes

Tom Copeland is the nation's leading expert on the business of family child care. As tax season approaches each year, thousands of family child care providers save time and money using the Tax Workbook and Organizers. The most comprehensive resource available, this book contains up-to-date guidance so family child care providers can accurately complete their own tax return and take advantage of all the business deductions they are entitled to claim. ### New! Proactive anti-bias and play-based practice

The YWCA Minneapolis Early Childhood Education's anti-bias, play-based curriculum is a framework that can be used independently or within another curriculum. It uses an anti-bias lens that focuses and builds children's awareness from self to friend to neighborhood and community. A program with an esteemed reputation for high-quality early childhood education, the YWCA Minneapolis developed this time-tested framework that uses racial equity work, racial and ethnic backgrounds, abilities, gender equity, and inclusion at the roots of its practice. This tool can be used with any assessment and includes a glossary and index. Age focus: 3–5. Softbound, 160 pgs.

More from Susan Stacey

An in-depth look at children's inquiry

Susan Stacey takes an in-depth look at inquiry in early childhood settings. She examines inquiry in all its facets, including environments that support relationships, create a culture of risk-taking, and support teachers and children. Throughout, stories about environments and approaches to inquiry from around the world are included as examples. Age focus: 3–6. Softbound, 176 pgs. Full color.

Use documentation to improve your teaching

Producing documentation that is thoughtful, meaningful, and aesthetically pleasing is a challenge. This book—filled with examples from the author as well as new and seasoned educators from across North America—will guide you through the process of using this powerful tool for communicating a child's learning to families. Age focus: 3–8. Softbound, 120 pgs. Full color.

Meet children where they are developmentally

The tools provided in this book make teaching easier as you are guided to create an individualized curriculum that meets the specific needs of each child. Gaye Gronlund takes you through a step-by-step process to continually use your observation and documentation to adapt your curriculum and create Developmental Studies, a successfully field-tested tool, to meet the developmental level of your young students. A Play is the foundation of learning

Discover why playing is school readiness. Timely research and new stories highlight how play is vital to the social, physical, cognitive, and spiritual development of young children. Learn the “what” and the “why” of “The Seven Things” caregivers should do with children every day. As play is forced out of early childhood environments over cries for more academic preschools, understanding that children’s learning happens through play is more important than ever. Age focus: 0–8. Softbound, 192 pgs.

B Over 65 art, science, and outdoor play ideas

Identify and create engaging, child-centered environments that allow for hands-on learning. These ideas will help you promote a variety of art, science, and outdoor play opportunities. Age focus: 3–8. Softbound, 132 pgs.

C 140 hands-on activity ideas

The highly anticipated sequel to The Ooey Gooley® Handbook, this resource shares 140 activities, art ideas, recipes, and sensory tub concoctions. Age focus: 3–8. Softbound, 204 pgs.

D 80 simple science experiments

Excite young learners with more than 80 simple science experiments that promote learning in fun and unique ways. Each uses supplies that you probably already have in your classroom or kitchen. Age focus: 3–12. Softbound, 120 pgs.

E Nine characteristics of a child centered program

Using true-to-life examples, anecdotes, and Lisa Murphy’s signature conversational style, Murphy provides an in-depth exploration of her approach to working with children, and outlines nine characteristics programs need to build an environment that’s child-centered, where play, developmentally appropriate practice, and academic standards all come together under one roof. Age focus: 0–8. Softbound, 208 pgs.

A The ones who paved the way

Montessori, Vygotsky, and Piaget. This workshop provides an overview of the key contributions of a few of the major players in the history of early childhood education, thus reinforcing that being play-based, hands-on, and child-centered in your approach to children is not a new idea. DVD. 44 minutes. Closed-Captioned.

B Support future school success

Lisa Murphy identifies the seven things educators need to do with children each day in order to encourage a love of lifelong learning. This workshop reinforces the importance of hands-on, play-based learning in the early years and discusses how playing is "getting them ready." DVD. 76 minutes. Closed-Captioned.

C Be a hands-on, play-based, child-centered program

This workshop provides an in-depth exploration of the nine points within the framework of Lisa Murphy's approach to working with children. Learn via interactive lecture, true-to-life examples, anecdotes, and Lisa's signature "learning and laughing" style. DVD. 42 minutes. Closed-Captioned.

D Why children need to play outside

Examine the many reasons why children need to play in the outdoors and learn some of the social factors that inhibit outdoor play. Includes a slideshow of children engaged in outdoor play experiences that you can immediately implement in your own home or center-based program. DVD. 70 minutes. Closed-Captioned.

E Create meaningful gathering time

Over twenty-five tried and true suggestions on how to create a meaningful gathering time, all while reinforcing the importance of authentic enthusiasm on the part of the teacher. Lisa reads a few books, sings some songs, recites some rhymes, and concludes by reading stories written both by and for children. DVD. 59 minutes. Closed-Captioned.

F Help a child by identifying their learning orientation

Hear the "Lisa Murphy" spin on Howard Gardner's classic theory of multiple intelligences. By providing easy to implement, yet possibly challenging, "comfort zone stretchers," Lisa challenges teachers to make sure they are celebrating all of the children in the classroom, not just the ones they favor. DVD. Closed-Captioned. 53 minutes.

Loose Parts
#542744 $32.95
(E-book #542751 $32.95)

Inspire children's play with loose parts

Loose parts are natural or synthetic, found, bought, or upcycled materials—acorns, hardware, stones, aluminum foil, or fabric scraps, for example—that children can move, manipulate, control, and change within their play. Loose parts support open-ended learning, enhance play, and empower children. More than 550 color photographs of loose parts in real early childhood settings. Age focus: 3–8. Softbound, 232 pgs. Full color.

Loose Parts 2
#544649 $32.95
(E-book #544656 $32.95)

Inspire play in infants and toddlers

Brings the fun of found objects to infants and toddlers. A variety of new and innovative loose parts ideas are paired with beautiful photography to inspire hours of fun for all ages. Learn about the safety considerations for each age group and how to appropriately select materials for the children in your care. Captivating classroom stories and proven science provide the context for how this style of play supports even very young children's development and learning. Age focus: 0–3. Softbound, 296 pgs. Full color.

Loose Parts 3
#544663 $32.95
(E-book #544670 $32.95)

Inspire culturally sustainable environments

Loose Parts 3 offers inspiration and guidance on creating culturally sensitive and culturally sustainable early childhood environments. With the help of over 400 full-color photos, this book shows readers how to use their environment to promote a sense of wonder, curiosity, and joy, and allow children to explore their identity. Peer-reviewed by a team from diverse backgrounds, Loose Parts 3 includes a note to educators on the discoveries made during the review process. Age focus: 0–8. Softbound, 280 pgs. Full color.

New! Inspire family engagement and 21st-century life skills

In the newest installment of the popular, award-winning Loose Parts series, Lisa Daly and Miriam Beloglovsky focus on family engagement and competency building. With inspiring full-color photographs Loose Parts 4 is organized around competencies and life skills children need for success in the future: knowingness, engagement, risk, connections, leadership, innovative thinking, and creativity. Lisa and Miriam explain the value of loose parts, detail how to integrate loose parts into the environment and children's play, and specifically focus on loose parts for children in family environments—helping educators engage families and extend learning beyond the classroom. Age focus: 3–8. Softbound, 312 pages. Full color.

New! Updated step-by-step guide for the CDA credentialing process

Earning a Child Development Associate (CDA) Credential is a valuable way to begin or continue your journey in lifelong learning. This up-to-date edition is easy to understand and offers step-by-step support through the CDA credentialing process, includes assistance in choosing your training, compiling the Professional Portfolio, and successfully completing the Verification Visit and CDA Exam. Softbound, 224 pgs.

New! Tom Copeland's record-keeping training video

Most family child care providers would rather care for children than spend time keeping records. But, taking care of the children is only half of the job. The other half is taking care of business, and record-keeping is an important part of running a business. This video can help family child care providers understand proper record-keeping strategies, pay lower taxes, and save money. DVD, three 1-hour sessions. Closed Caption.
